Boma Yangu

The Boma Yangu platform is the gateway into the Affordable Housing Program. It is intended to help users begin their journey towards home ownership and achieve their home ownership goals.

Home affordability and repayment capacity

Users should be directed to the official Boma Yangu website to calculate their home affordability and repayment capacity using the Home Loan Calculator / pre-qualification service.

Access through eCitizen

Boma Yangu states that users can access the platform using their eCitizen account.

Housing is a fundamental human need

The Boma Yangu website states that the right to housing is embedded in the Constitution of Kenya, which provides that every person has the right to accessible and adequate housing. The platform is intended to support national housing policy goals of providing housing for all and safe and secure shelter.

Programme statistics shown on the website

At the time this document was prepared, the website displayed 128 projects available, 1,243,254+ registered applicants, and 200+ strategic partner applicants. These figures are time-sensitive and should be rechecked against the official website.

Three steps to home ownership

The platform describes the home-ownership journey in three steps: Register, Save, and Own.

1. Register

Registration is free. An eCitizen account is required. Users can register through the Boma Yangu web portal or by dialing *832# USSD. The user completes a profile with personal details and housing preferences, after which the details are verified by relevant government agencies.

Registration conditions

The website lists these conditions: the applicant must be a Kenyan citizen, be above 18 years of age, and have a valid National Identity Card.

2. Save

To activate an account, the website states that a minimum saving of KSH 200 is required. After activation, users can save any amount at any time through available payment options.

Saving channels

The website states that savings can be made through mobile money across all networks, credit and debit cards, or cash deposits at authorised custodial banks listed on the website: KCB, NCBA and Cooperative Bank.

Selecting a preferred unit

Registered and saving members can view available projects, add projects to a wishlist, and select a preferred unit. Selecting a preferred unit shows the deposit required to be eligible for allocation, described as 5% of the unit value.

Savings and refunds

The website states that savings can be made as many times as desired, including daily or monthly, and that the amount of savings is not capped. Refunds on savings are stated to be handled in accordance with housing fund regulations and can be requested through the portal.

USSD contributions

The website states that contributions can be made by dialing *832#.

3. Own

Once projects are completed, the allocation process begins. Registered members are notified when allocation starts. Members are asked to select a unit and notified of the amount they need to have saved to be eligible for allocation.

Allocation

The website states that allocation of homes is conducted through a fair and transparent process. Initial eligibility for allocation may depend on factors including when the required deposit was reached, family status and other social factors, demand across housing categories, and the terms and conditions applicable to private-sector projects.

Waiting list

Applicants who do not receive an allocation in the first instance are placed on a waiting list so that they can have priority in subsequent allocations.

One Kenyan, one home

The Boma Yangu website states that under the affordable housing scheme each Kenyan can only benefit once, described on the website as 'one Kenyan, one home'.

Allocation status

The website states that users can check their allocation status by dialing *832#.

Who the programme serves

The Affordable Housing Programme is described as a government priority initiative aimed at facilitating the production of decent, safe and affordable housing for citizens of Kenya. The programme also incorporates supply, demand, and policy interventions that create an enabling environment.

Participant groups

The website identifies Local Home Applicants, Diaspora Home Applicants, Property Developers, Organised Groups, MSMEs, and Financiers/Investor Strategic Partners.

Local Home Applicants

The platform allows potential homeowners to register, save, and own a unit. It also provides a wallet for payments towards the deposit.

Diaspora Home Applicants

The platform caters to Kenyans living abroad and allows diaspora home applicants to save toward home ownership through available payment channels.

Property Developers

The platform enables developers to onboard and register as strategic partners, giving developers access to demand, goods and services, and incentives. Some developer-related services are marked as coming soon.

Organised Groups

Organised groups can participate and off-take available units in bulk on behalf of their members. Examples include employers, companies or businesses, Saccos, Chamas, and other groups duly registered in Kenya.

MSMEs

The platform enables the creation and management of MSME profiles and membership lists and provides access to projects through which developers may purchase MSME goods and services directly. Some MSME services are marked as coming soon.

Financiers / Investor Strategic Partners

The platform allows financial institutions to support the Affordable Housing Programme by offering mortgages to homeowners or construction financing to developers. Some related services are marked as coming soon.

Official website and user direction

For current programme information and to calculate home affordability and repayment capacity, users should be directed to the official Boma Yangu website: <https://www.bomayangu.go.ke/> . The website provides access to the Home Loan Calculator / pre-qualification service.
